Business Men Demand Changes

Some Claim Parking Meters Killing Business For Daly City Merchants

A petition calling for a re-examination of the parking meter situation in Daly City is soon to be presented to the city council.

This was announced today by Thomas B. Gallen, attorney representing an undetermined number of petition signers.

The petition will be filed on the basis of an earlier statement by the council that the meters were put in on an "experimental" basis, and wil be changed as reason demands.

General Demands

The wording of the petition was not available at this time. Generally, however, the signers will ask for:

1. A return of diagonal parking in the main business district.

2. Some adjustment for merchants who claim they are suffering, from a loss of business because of the meters. This may mean taking out some meters, or increasing the time of parking from 60 minutes to two hours.

3. Removing meters in combination residential-business districts.

Many business men claim that Daly City's only draw for customers was its former lack of parking meters. They further assert the meters must go, or business will drop drop off.

In Favor

On the other hand, there appear to be an equal number of business men and residents who are in favor of the meters.

Meanwhile, Mayor Paul Green said that last Monday evening several merchants from School street had complained about the meters for many of the aforesaid reasons.

"We realize some adjustments must be made, and are willing to listen to any legitimate complaints," the mayor said.

When asked about the petition, Mayor Green said he had no comment at this time, as he had not seen the document.

WORK TO BEGIN ON W'LAKE SCHOOL

Ground Breaking To Be Held Within Next Ten Days

Ground breaking for the new $262,497, 14 classroom Westlake school will be held within the next 10 days.

At a special meeting last Thursday night the Jefferson elementary school board signed a contract for the school construction with the J. C. Peterson Co. As soon as the contract has been approved by state and county officials, work will begin on the school, James Snell, superintendent of schools, said today.

Agreement

Snell said an "equitable" agreement had been reached as to the price of an additional 2½ acres in Westlake needed by the school. This acreage, the school board asserted, was necessary before construction could proceed.

Present plans call for the completion of the new Westlake school (for Kindergarten through the sixth grade) to be ready in time for 1951 fall classes.

Other business before the school board included:

1. Giving Snell the sole responsibility of appointing teachers to any of the schools. This arose in a dispute as to whom should be appointed by the board to the new Colma school.

2. A petition was received from parents of children attending the Jefferson elementary school. They requested their children be allowed to finish out the eighth grade at Jefferson, instead of being transfered to the new Colma school when it opens in February. The matter was turned over to Snell, and he said he would follow the wishes of the parents.

Three Youngsters Swipe March Of Dimes Box

How low can you get?

Three yougsters, old enough to know better, swiped a container full of dimes from the Daly City Snow Man, 7164 Mission street, Tuesday evening. The box was taped to the outside of the concern's window.

The children, 13, 15 and 15 respectively are just the ones the dime container at some later date might benefit.

The box was where a score of persons had dropped dimes for the current March of Dimes campaign to fight polio.

Father McKenna Goes To Concord

Father Adrian McKenna is soon to leave his post at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church for Concord, California.

A popular member of the Daly City community, Father McKenna will take up the post of assistant at Queen of All Saint's Parish in Concord.

No replacement has yet been named for Father McKenna.

Meanwhile, he was the honored guest of a gathering of a few friends last Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Ennis. The evening was spent recalling the many events of which Father McKenna has played a key

M&S Motors Off To Good Start In Used Car Field

With a pledge of "giving the best for the money," the M and S Motors, of 5440 Mission st., has entered the low priced used car field here with a bang, according to red Mowrey, the senior partner.

"Our aim is to satisfy our customers, asserted Fred, "and we will do everything possible to attain that goal. We believe that the most vital concern is a contented purchaser.

"Of course, it is basic in our business. A man or woman who belives he or she got a fair value is bound to spread the happy news. On the other hand, word of a sour transaction will gain just as much, if not more momentum.

"Consequently, we are of the opinion that it is merely a sound policy to exactly represent the cars on our lot, and where possible, see that they are in top running order."

As for background, Fred Mowrey has been in the used car field for many years, having managed and sold for dealers in this vicinity and on the peninsula.

He is a World War II veteran, serving in the south Pacific. For three years, he was a member of the Burlingame police department. Also, he has been active in the Boy Scout movement with troop 117 and a YMCA youth director with the San Mateo County Chapter. Again, he is an active member of the American Legion.

WOMEN AND GOVERNMENT

Governments are like women. Neither are rational, reasoning beings. Both are swept on by pure intuition and emotion.

Wine, women and song lead to a man's moral downfall. Taxes, government and politicians destroy his mental equilibrium. He who would indulge in physical or rational excess of the aforesaid categories is a ruined man.

In the home the once powerful bread winner is a crumb to his wife.

In the outside world the once rugged individual is a mere statistic to the government.

ONCE UPON A TIME

At one time (when the man had a club in his corner) it was possible to sit down and reason with his spouse. The woman, although certain her husband was mad, paid respect to his insanity. She held her emotions in check.

At one time (when the frontiers were boundless) it was possible for a man to forget taxes,

THE FELLOWS ARE CRAZY ABOUT....

The "Lady In Black" Who Collects Taxes

Who is the "lady in black?"

That is what Richard H. Bridgeman, operator of the Palomar Stables near Thornton Beach, wants to know today.

Also interested are the County Board of Supervisors.

The charming female fatale has allegedly been collecting some $30 each December from the Ottonello Ranch, the property adjoining the Palomar Stables. In what purports to be a "hot breath" type of voice, she requests the dough for county lease money.

BAFFLED

Once more, she has been making the collections for years.

E. Robert Stalling, new county manager, admits he is baffled. He says the supervisors have never delegated the county's tax collecting powers to any "lady in black."

The mystery came to light this week when Bridgeman approached the county to lease one of the 26 acres the county owns near his ranch.

He said he wanted to lease the land as allegedly Ottonello had been doing. Ottonello allegedly has county land under lease, and distributed water from the land to neighbors.

HE PAYS

"I pay the lady in black every December to lease the land," Ottonello assertedly told Bridgeman.

The trouble is the board of supervisors are not aware of such a lease, and even less aware of the mysterious lady.

However, galants to the last, the supervisors, the county manager, and Bridgeman, today said they all would like to arrange a "date" with the gal.

WESTLAKE HIT BY BUILDING BAN

Daly City Post Office Also May Be Effected By Recent NPA Order

Plans for at least nine-tenths of the $15,000,000 Westlake shopping district were apparently blasted this week by a federal ban on construction of stores, offices, restaurants and other commercial centers until February 15.

After February 15 each new private commercial building must be specifically authorized by the National Production Authority.

The fate of Daly City's new post office building is also in the balance. The building, to be constructed at Bepler and Mission Circle, is to replace present inadequate facilities.

Post office officials, awaiting clarification of the NPA order, had no comment today.

No Comment

An official for the Henry Doelger Builders Inc. said he had no comment to make today. "We only know what we read in the papers. We are now awaiting clarification of the federal order."

The official pointed out that the order will not affect the present super market now under construction in Westlake. The 120 by 192 foot modern shopping center is to be completed early this year. Construction started last October.

However, the fate of the proposed two department stores, medical-office building, banks, post office, theatre and numerous other units in the Westlake Town and Country Center is still in the balance.

Order States

The NPA order, purpose of which is to save materials for the mobilization program, said commercial building will be authorized in general, only if it:

1. Furthers the defense effort, or

2. Is essential to public health, welfare or safety, or

3. Alleviates or prevents a hardship in a community.

The order applies to new construction "starts," and not to building already under way. The NPA warned builders to "exercise caution" in deciding whether construction has been legally commenced.

The new order is issued as an amendment to the NPA's general construction order (which almost killed Daly City's Community Center building) passed last year.

Bocci Institutes Court Changes

Sworn in as Justice of the Peace of the First Township last Thursday, Thomas Bocci Jr. this week noted several changes in the procedure of the court.

Beginning this week Justice Court will be held in Daly City every Friday morning from 9:30 a.m. to noon. The previous schedule was Tuesday mornings.

Court will be held in South San Francisco every Thursday as in the past.

A new innovation in South City will be the pledge of allegiance to the flag, administered by various Boy Scout troops, the first Thursday of every month in the court.

Bocci also noted that small claims may be filed in his law office, 6654 Mission street.

An ironic twist to Bocci being sworn in last week, is that his term of office will be but for one year. The people in the November election passed Proposition 3 which automatically does away with Justice and Police courts. As of January, 1952, these minor courts will be consolidate into one district municipal court.

As the youngest judge in California (Bocci is 28), the Daly City attorney last Thursday dedicated himself to preserving the liberty and rights of the people.

Bocci's opponent in the election was R. A. Rapsey who had taken over the position of Judge when John Fahey resigned in January, 1950.

SENATOR PARKMAN NAMED AS CHAIRMAN

SACRAMENTO — (CNS) — State Senator Harry Parkman, of San Mateo county, this week was named chairman of the State Standing Committee on Governmental efficiency.

Parkman succeeds Ralph Swing, of San Bernardino, who retired from the Senate and held the chairmanship of this important committee for several sessions.

Parkman will also serve on the following committees:

Revenue and taxation, financial institutions, public utilities and natural resources.

During the past months The Record has done its best to bring to the attention of the public the overcrowded, inadequate facilities of the Daly City Library.

The response of the public has been promising, especially the variou PTA's that answered the need by writing letters to the city council urging immediate action.

The city council this week took cognizance of the library problem. Following is a letter by Mayor Paul Green in which he points out the "dilemma" of the council, and possible solutions to the problem:

I wish to acknowledge the campaign, instituted by your newspaper, which is aimed at securing larger and more complete library facilities in Daly City.

Concerned

Your City Council has been concerned with the problem for some time, for we realize that the same need which resulted in the recent elementary school expansion program will, in a year or two, result in an urgent need for expansion of our already overcrowded library requirements.

Frankly, this leaves us on the horns of a dilemma. Our alternatives are these:

1. Makeshift alterations to the existing John Daly Library, which alterations will alleviate conditions for a short time only, since the present building does not lend itself to major construction changes.

2. Waiting until completion of our Memorial Community Center, now under construction, and transferring library facilities to the area in the new building which has heretofore been committed to use as a teen-age center.

New Library

3. Presentation of a bond issue to the voters for construction of more than one new library; libraries to be located where they may be most accessible to the residents of our rapidly-growing city.

4. Rental of private premises on an interim basis, so that the present library site (which has considerable commercial value) may be disposed of at public auction. The proceeds from the sale of the existing site would be utilized for the construction of a new and larger library building, probably located on city-owned land

HOW IT LOOKS FROM A CORNER

By BILL KATZ

ignore the government, and run the politicians out of town on a rail. The government, although certain the people were ignorant, was in no position to press this view home. In a word, the government was forced to check itself.

With the advent of the washing machine, the bridge party, the social columns, a woman was liberated from the bounds of her home. She came to compare notes with her friends. Intuitively she had known she was the strong sex, but by exchanging this view over a telephone and the back fence, she gained numerical strength of her opinion. Friend husband came home one night to find his club gone, the aura of reason destroyed, and pure female emotion ruling the roost.

BROADENS SCOPE

With the advent of the airplane, the radio, the bureaucrats, government broadened its scope of activity to swallow up the last frontier. Politicians got in a huddle. Intuitively they had known that a strong central government was best. Now they had the strength to enforce their views. One morning hapless man awoke to find an income tax blank in the mail, a draft notice on the way, and a jumble of controls that destroyed the last vestige of individualism.

And so it goes. The comparison, good or bad, between governments and women is boundless.

We believe we have at last found the key to understanding one or the other of the two strongest phenomenas in the world today. He who rationally perceives the working of government will understand women. Conversely, he who understands women, comprehends government.

There is just one difficulty... we have yet to find a man who honestly understands women, or government. Hence, with no basis of comparison, man must now, as ever, be a stoic and make the most of a bad deal.

WHAT'S THIS?

The U. S. Naval public relations office is having a hard time keeping up with events in Korea. Witness this concluding paragraph in a navy release about a local man now in Korean waters..."he (the local man) will have access to the many scenic and historic spots located there"...Korea, that is.

JTV LOOKS AHEAD

Dr. Allen B. Dumont, president of the Dumont Laboratories, and a pioneer in television has this "heartening" news for all TV fans ...by 1960 he claims there will be two and three receivers (both black and white and color) in every home. This brings to mind several similar statements issued a score of years ago such as... "two cars in every garage, two chickens in every pot," or perhaps more apt "I found no peace."

550 County Men Join Services

There are now 550 men for San Mateo County in uniform who took their places in the armed forces after the Korean war broke out.

Of these, the draft has taken 264, and 287 have enlisted, according to figures released this week from the Army, Navy and Air Force recruiting offices in San Mateo.

Reservists who have been volunteered or been called, are not included in the aforesaid figures.

The Navy recruiting office in San Mateo County is currently sending in recruits at the rate of nearly 25 a week. The Army and Air Force is sending in two men a day under the current program.

ATOMIC BOMB EFFECTS IS RADIO PROGRAM TOPIC

The effects of atomic bombing will be described in a radio interview Friday night by Major General Walter M. Robertson, State Director of Civil Defense.

The General will be interviewed over station KNBC from 7:45 to 8 p.m. by Bob Letts, in the last of a series of ten broadcasts on "The A-Bomb and your survival."

Councilmen Study

You will be interested to know that the various Councilmen have been detailed to investigate each of the alternatives, so that a full report will be available for decision at an early date.

Furthermore, the Council is considering the appointment of a citizen-composed Library Commission to adminster library operations, which might result in improvements to match, on the library scale, other civic improvements which have been accomplished during the last couple of years.

That's the situation. The original John Daly library was donated to the city by a public-spirited citizen who had the where-withal to match his public spirit, so that previous Councils have not had the particular problem which now confronts us.

Appreciation

Anyway, we appreciate the interest of The Record in the growth and development of the city. I think you know that your City Council is appreciative of and responsive to constructive suggestions, and I believe that you may expect the library problem to be satisfactorily solved within a reasonably short time.

Congratulations and thanks for your interest in city affairs.

Yours very truly,
PAUL GREEN,
Mayor.

NEWS FROM THE SCHOOLS

CROCKER

The eighth grade (a.m. Room 1) enjoyed recently a most educational excursion at the main branch of the Bank of America, 300 Montgomery Street, San Francisco.

The trip was planned in correlation with the study of business arithmetic. Mr. H. Topping, in the personnel department planned the one hour tour through the securities vault, the international banking department, trust department, telegraph department, and personnel. "Top men" in each department conducted and explained the activities in their specific fields.

While in the telegraph department, the students received a personnel message from New York, which they brought back to school and have on display with the rest of the banking material collected. The educational theory "learning through living" was evidenced by this excursion, and every student privileged to go on the tour, arranged by their principal, profited and realized that school is important!

Fifth Grade

Mrs. Schober's, 5th grade, regular session, arranged and decorated the bulletin board in the library with two unique winter scenes. One scene showed "Papa (snowman), and the other "Mama" and her seven year old "Baby." The ideas were original and decided by the group prior to executing the project.

Room 1

The seventh grade has been studying how rocks are made and used. Some of the terms they became familiar with were: sedimentary, metamorphic, igneous, and stratified.

In arithmetic they have taken a readiness test in percentage and are prepared to start a unit of work on this subject.

Room 2

The sixth grade are studying about Brazil. They are very much interested in the growth and cultivation of coffee.

In arithmetic they have learned to subtract unlike fractions.

Room 3

The fifth grade has just started their work in fractions. They have learned to distinguish proper and improper fractions and have learned to add like fractions.

They are beginning their study of the Westward Movement. This week we enjoyed a film on pioneer life in Kentucky.

Geraldine Faulhaber, Constance Murphy, Buckley Hyers, and Jack Lewkowitz were elected team captains for the coming month.

Room 4

The sixth grade in Room 4 has begun a study of our largest southern neighbor, Brazil. They have learned that, next to Canada, it is the largest country in the New World. On the other hand, it has a relatively small population. The people of Brazil, in contrast to the rest of South America, speak the Portuguese language instead of Spanish. In studying this unit the class will make an outline, draw maps, view pictures, and answer questions. The products, rivers, people, cities, and regions of Brazil will be studied. A special unit booklet on coffee will be used at this time.

Room 5

The students of the seventh grade are learning to read, interpret, and construct bar graphs and line graphs.

RECORD STAINLESS STEEL PRODUCTION

During the first nine months of 1950 the production of stainless steels in the United States was the largest of any similar period in the history of the steel industry. The average quarterly production was in excess of 195,000 tons. Indications are that the output for the ful year may aproach 750,000 tons. Over 60 per cent of this production is expected to be nickel-containing grades.

Meet Your City Officials

Paul Green -- One Of The More Famous South Of Market Boys... And Your Mayor

An Irishman through and through, Daly City's Mayor Paul Green is a member of the South of Market Boys; at 35 one of the youngest mayors in the state, and amazingly popular in what was once a predominantly Italian community.

He also is a politician who candidly admits that outside of "finishing the job in Daly City," he has no political aspirations. And this, he assures all, goes for a recent rumor that some day he may run for congress.

Looking back over his relatively brief life on this planet, Paul can recall memories enough to fit him into the Horatio Alger category. Not that he has been lucky. He's made the breaks for himself. It takes hard work, both physical and mental, to raise a man from the crowded quarters of San Francisco's south side to the mayor's chair.

Good Moves

In fact, about the only time Lady Luck took Paul under her protective care was 31 years ago when his family moved to Daly City. That gave him the opportunity to become familiar with the community and its men and women who would choose him to "pilot" their civic affairs.

Big Deal

Of course, it might have been luck that Paul was able to swing the biggest deal of his life. Others, more familiar with his friendly grin and Irish blarney claim he didn't need any luck. At any rate in November, 1941 (he can tell you the date without a moment's hesitation) he married Patricia Murray, considered then, as now, one of the best looking women in Daly City.

Paul now has three children: Jimmy, 6; Susan, 4; and Stephen, who will be 1-year-old February 20.

Like so many others of the South of Market members, Paul had a hard time educating himself. In the '30s money was better spent on essential food than on school. It was a tough fight all the way through the grades and into Jefferson High School.

College Out

When it came to college Paul managed to stick it out for a year in San Mateo Junior College and San Francisco Junior College respectively. But then the dough ran out, and so did dreams of getting a degree in journalism. In 1934 he took a job with a San Francisco tug boat firm, to be exchanged a few months later for a position as paymaster with the Marine Terminal Corporation.

However, determined to get an education, Paul enrolled in the San Francisco Law school evenings. It was going to be a long hard grind, but he was on the way. Then Uncle Sam issued the call.

This call wasn't like the one he had answered earlier when for $30 a month he had spent six months with the C.C.C. No, this time he was one of the "one year" men who put on the army uniform. On January 28, 1941, Paul became a foot soldier in the Seventh Division, commanded by Uncle Joe Stillwell.

Optimist

"I didn't mind spending that one year, and when I got married in November I was looking forward to a discharge in January," Paul recalls.

The Japanese at Pearl Harbor threw a monkey wrench into these plans. Seeing that he was going to spend a "few" more years in the army, Paul put in a request, and was accepted, as an Officer Training Candidate in Mississippi. A few months later he was commissioned as a second lieutenant and was ordered to the San Francisco Port of Embarkation where he was put in charge of army transport personnel. Before discharge he rose to the rank of major.

We Want You

All set to get out in December, 1945, Paul returned to Daly City one March morning. He was painting his house when and old friend, Peter Markovich dropped around. "We've put you up for city council," Pete casually mentioned. Paul continued painting. He was used to this kind of talk . . . at least from Pete.

It was back in 1940 that Pete had dropped around to see Paul. All set to go on a vacation, Paul had given up the plans when his friend suddenly decided he could not make the trip. Pete had found him drinking a cup of coffee in a local cafe. "Look, since neither of us have much to do, why don't we run for the position of trustee on the Jefferson High School board," Pete had asked? That was on a Monday, just four days before the election was to be held.

I'm Game

Game for anything, Paul agreed. The two budding politicians scurried around town, rustled up some friends to vote for them as write-in candidates. To no one's surprise they lost, but the margin between victory and defeat was no more than 20 votes.

That had been back in 1940. Now, in 1946, with more time to carry on a campaign, Paul agreed to try again, only this time it was for the city council.

Elected

Still in uniform, Paul was elected to the council seat by a large majority in April, 1946. Then, trouble really zeroed in the new city councilman. Come December, when he was to be discharged, the army discovered it didn't have his papers. He was given a 30 day leave. Six months later still no papers, still no discharge.

Slightly discouraged, Paul went up to the hospital one morning to see what had happened. A few days later he was in a Denver hospital. He stayed in that hospital 1½ years.

This gives Paul the rather dubious distinction of being the only city councilman who has held down an office from a sick bed for almost two years. In 1948 he returned to "duty," and took over the mayor's job from A. J. Gaggero.

Big Plum

Although the city council was the biggest political plum in Paul's career pudding, he is no novice to public office. It really all started back in high school days at Jeff. As editor of the Jefferson High School paper, "The Totem Pole," Paul made the most of a position which opened the doors of friendship with the majority of the student body.

It was in his junior year he ran, and was elected student body president. And a year later he carried the same position to make him one of the few (if not the only) led to hold down the president's chair for more than a single term.

State Prize

It also was in high school that be won state wide recognization for his work in journalism. He took first prize in the state for the best high school news story . . . it concerned some difficulty about putting out the annual that year.

Determined in those days to be a newspaperman, Paul enrolled for journalism at the aforesaid San Mateo Junior College and San Francisco Junior College. However, economic necessity, later coupled with Uncle Sam's beckoning call to uniform, ended this dream . . . at least in part.

No Position

Shortly after he left the army hospital bed in 1948 Paul worked for a time on The Record. He later dropped this in favor of real estate and insurance and another crack at law school. But a man who has been flat on his back for almost two years is in no position to hold down four or five different jobs. So, ambitious as he was, Paul was forced to concede to the doctor's advice.

Today, or at least this Monday, Paul believes he has found a way to combine the majority of his interests. Still faithful to journalism, but mellowed with monetary consideration, Paul is opening a joint Public Relations—Insurance—Real Estate office at 6236 Mission. In the same office will be a fine representative of the law in Frank Blum, city attorney.

Character

Amid all this activity, Paul is a restless, often quick tempered Irishman who attempts to do a direct, good job. Where perhaps some of the "suave" of the diplomat is lacking, he makes it up with what his friends have come to understand is a sincere desire to get to "the heart" of the matter. No more dramatic illustration of this attitude can be seen than in the way he handles a council meeting. Although glad to listen to the complaints of the citizens at large, in his attempt to find the intelligent answer, he often times cuts short the harangs of some distressed citizen with a reminder of the limitations of parliamentary procedure. On the other hand, his patience can be almost boundless when he sincerely believes a citizen has a legitimate complaint.

No Time

Between the council chambers and business Paul rarely has time for his favorite recreations, golf and photography. Nor has he the time to participate actively in the American Legion, VFW, Disabled American Vets, Eagles, or even the South Of Market Boys.

As to the future, Daly City's mayor is looking forward to the completion of the Community Center building, a better signal program and the new sanitation district, to name only a few of the major items.

A Long Way

Leaning back in his chair, Paul viewed the future with some optimism. He, like Daly City, has come a long way during the past 35 years, and today it is hard to say whether the man, or the community has benefited more from one another's "company."

Paul, to use a worn cliche, is a "self made man" who apparently has apparently known what he wanted from the beginning, even down to the tasteful, but bright, sports clothes and the figured ties. He has worked hard and long to attain his goal, and what is beyond today's goal will, in all probability, be an important page in the history of Daly City tomorrow.

HOW ABOUT A CHAMBER OF COMMERCE?

One major difficulty with Daly City is that few people outside of the community are aware that Daly City is more than a name on the map.

This failure to make Daly City known has cost local business men thousands of dollars in lost trade. In no small way it also has hindered the growth of the city...few settle down in a community that makes no effort to broadcast its economic and scenic assets.

Over the years Daly City has made amazing progress. Total area and population has trebled... some of the finest markets and stores in the Bay Area are here, or now being built...the school system is one of the best...the recreation possibilities are numerous. In a word, Daly City is synonimous with fine living.

It is about time we broadcast to the nation the worth of Daly City.

There is one simple way to do just that...a chamber of commerce.

A director could be hired at a small part of the loss merchants are suffering each year for lack of such an organization. Given a few months of active promoting, a chamber of commerce would be an economic boon to every business man in Daly City. This has been proved time and time again by other communities, and the records of the League of California Cities bears out this assumption.

A chamber of commerce is also a blessing to the residents at large. The chamber promotes better living conditions for everyone by bringing in new families and industry.

We believe this is a matter for both the city council and the merchants to consider. The people appear to have already decided it is a good thing. A recent poll by this newspaper affirmed the residents' desire for a chamber of commerce.

EARLY ACTION PROMISED ON LIBRARY

The Daly City council went on record this week to alleviate the overcrowded conditions in your Daly City Library.

No definits action was formulated, although the council is now looking into several methods of assisting the library. The mayor said that at an "early date" a full report will be available, and the council will make a definite, positive move.

The council is to be congratulated. However, The Record, as well as thousands of citizens who daily use the facilities of the library, will be watching to see that the "early date" for improvements does not drag on for many months. No one can expect miracles, but on the other hand this is really a needed civic improvement.

The mayor noted that the council is considering the appointment of a citizen-composed Library Commission to administer library operations. We can think of no finer asset to your library than such a committee. It is about time that those who are quick to use the facilities of the library are given an opportunity to make it a better library.

We hope any citizen called on to serve on this committee will be prompt to reply in the affirmative.

YOU HOLD THE PASSPORT TO LIFE

Few have ever seen a man die for lack of blood.

In a way, it is too bad. Were it possible for every citizen to have this picture branded on his mind it would not be necessary to beg for blood donations.

But beg, the blood banks must. Each week there is a shortage of the necessary life giving fluid in the "vaults" of both the San Mateo County and the San Francisco blood banks. The lack of donors has killed and, probably, will kill scores more of the men who are now fighting the bloody battles of Korea.

Yet you, Mr. and Mrs. Reader, have it in your power to save a life, or to destroy a life. The blood in your veins is that power.

Won't you take five minutes to give a young soldier in Korea the passport from death to life?

Daly City is to have a "day" at the San Mateo Blood Bank, February 16. Be there.

Reservations to save a life may be made by calling Mrs. William Hobbs, JUniper 7-9792.

S.F. Mission District Asks Off Street Parking

The Mission Street Merchants Assn. has requested off-street parking facilities be provided by the San Francisco Parking Authority in an attempt to relieve parking and traffic congestion that is "leading to economic strangulation."

The Association proposed the Authority institute condemnation proceedings to clear a site for a 250-car parking lot on the West side of Bartlett between 21st and 22nd Streets, in the heart of the busy Mission District. Property that would be involved in the condemnation is appraised at $385,000. The Authority took the appeal under consideration.

The Federal wage and hour law now makes clear what special type of payments must be included when computing a covered worker's overtime pay if he works more than 40 hours a week.

A hazardous occupations order isued by the Secretary of Labor bars employment of children under 18 to operate power-driven hoisting apparatus, including freight and passenger elevators.

Let's Keep Our Balance

Blood Donors

19 Local Residents Donate Blood Last Month To Help Soldiers In Korea

Answering the call for blood donations, 10 Daly City residents last month contributed their blood to the San Mateo County Blood Bank.

Other local residents will be given an opportunity to donate the life giving blood February 16. On that day, between 8 a.m. and 2 p.m. Daly City will have its day at the Bank.

Those interested in giving blood are asked to call JUniper 7-9792.

Mrs. W. E. Hobbs, 8 Risel avenue, and Mrs. Hugh Falconer, 103 Village Lane are co-chairmen for Red Cross recruitment in the Daly City-Colma area.

Leading the list of those who gave blood last month is A. L. Sundstrom. This was his fourteenth donation.

Mrs. Sue Hopman gave her sixth pint of blood, while George Ferretti gave his third pint. Otto Hubka was at the Bank for the second time.

First donors included: Thomas Thimes, George W. Wright, Frank R. Green, Adolph Schenone, Eurlyne Boskey, Leo Lemon ,Raymond G. Allen and Mesdames: Opal Cook, Vera Mohriveiss, Catherine McKeown, Leo Lemon, Eva Arroyos, Mildred Lewis, Mildred Whinnen, V. Blackburn and A. L. Lewis.

Congressional Area

County Democrats To Recommend New District

A final decision on recommending new congressional district boundaries for San Mateo County will be made by the county Democratic Central Committee at a dinner meeting to be held at Half Moon Bay Inn, Half Moon Bay, tonight (January 18), according to Marion H. Kent, committee chairman.

The dinner will start at 6:30 p.m. and will feature speakers from San Jose and Sacramento.

According to Kent, San Mateo county is approximately 95,000 residents short of constituting a full congressional district and must join a portion or all of one of the three adjoining counties, Santa Cruz, San Francisco or Alameda, to make up the required total.

Roy L. "Budd" Smith, president of the San Jose Democratic club, and Del Mutolo, San Jose attorney, will discuss organizational activities in the Santa Clara area. A large delegation of other San Jose Democrats will be present.

Agnes Booe, editor and publisher of the Sacramento Newsletter, will speak on legislative procedures and activities in the capital city.

This will be one of many official San Mateo County Democratic Central meetings to be held in various cities in the county during 1951. This departure from meeting at the same place, as has been the custom in previous years, was initiated by chairman Kent as the result of requests received from Democratic organizations located throughout the area.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Truman Rejects Hoover Demand For a New U. S. Foreign Policy; Allies Approve Army of 750,000

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Here is another view of a section of the city corridor through which the first marines fought their way to the Hamhung beachhead. Weary leathernecks used every pause to catch a nap, even on the frozen ground. Over 11,000 of them were killed or wounded.

HOOVER:
A New Foreign Policy

Herbert Hoover demanded a new foreign policy for the United States in a major radio-television speech. He urged the U.S. to concentrate on holding the Atlantic and Pacific oceans with the island outposts of Britain, Japan, Formosa and the Philippines. He then warned against sending more men and money to Europe.

The former president's speech created a buzz of controversy in Washington. Democratic officials called it "rank isolationism" and even some top G.O.P. policy makers, including Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio, did not agree in all respects with Mr. Hoover.

This is how Mr. Hoover saw the situation:

"It is clear continental Europe has not in three years of our aid developed a unity of purpose and that will power necessary for its own defense.

"It is clear that our British friends are flirting with appeasement of Communist China.

"It is clear that the U.N. is in a fog of debate and indecision on whether to appease or not to appease."

He then went on to outline his seven "principles and action" for American policy:

1. Preserve "this western hemisphere Gibraltar."

2. Hold the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, seeking the cooperation of Great Britain.

3. Arm our air and naval forces "to the teeth," free Japan and help her rearm, and stiffen the defenses of Formosa and the Philippines.

4. Reduce other expenses, balance the budget, and roll back inflation.

5. Aid other nations that show "spirit and strength" in defending themselves against the Communists.

6. No appeasement anywhere, "no more Tehrans and Yaltas."

7. Watchful waiting in Europe pending its own development of "unity and will" to resist aggression.

Much of the criticism against Mr. Hoover's proposals centered around the belief that the Pacific and Atlantic oceans can be made a defense line. Some critics pointed out that failure to continue aid to our friends and allies would isolate us and eventually we would find ourselves without any friends in the world.

President Truman issued a statement shortly after Hoover's speech which amounted to a firm rejection of the former president's demand that troops and money be withheld from Europe.

The President said the Atlantic pact nations had shown they "mean business" about setting up a common defense and asserted the protection of western Europe was vital to United States security.

"Let there be no mistake," Truman said. "The unity of the nations of western Europe and the North Atlantic area is vital to their security and ours."

He then announced that soldiers of pact nations—presumably including U. S. troops—will be training together "within the next few weeks."

EUROPE:
Army of 750,000

The 12 Atlantic pact nations pledged themselves to try to match America's partial war mobilization. They pledged themselves to build an unprecedented international peacetime army of 750,000 men to stop Communist aggression. This is the army that General Eisenhower will command.

The council concluded its two-day conference in Brussels with the issuance of a formal communique which included:

1. Establishment of an integrated force under centralized control and command. This force to be composed of contingents contributed by the participating governments.

2. An order to United States, Great Britain and France to start negotiations with the Germans to persuade them to agree to cooperate with the west in limited rearmament.

3. Creation of a new defense production board "charged with expanding and accelerating" rearmament; it will supersede the Atlantic powers old military production and supply board.

It will be many months however before General Eisenhower will have anything more than a token force. But observers agreed that at last the western powers have gotten down to the serious business of building a defense against communism.

CHRISTMAS:
A False Gaiety

The world—that part which still celebrates the Birth of Christ — went all-out for Christmas 1950, but it was a false gaiety. Those parts of the world where there was no strife could not forget that men still died believing in the dignity of man and the principle of freedom.

But people tried to make it a merry Christmas in many lands. In the United States department stores recorded near record sales.

Frenchmen, even while many of them feared it might be the last Christmas before World War III, sent sales records to new heights in the stores, buying for feasting and giving which would hide from their children the frayed nerves of their elders.

Britain, too, was determined to put the best face on matters and enjoy the holiday.

Brussels set the tone for Belgium. The city was gaily festooned for the holiday, the mood of worry successfully hidden and the celebration testifying to Belgium's renewed economic strength.

West Germany tried to forget that she was the object of a tug of war between Communism and non-Communism. Christmas sales hit a post-war peak.

In East Germany there was no observance. There were no displays in the stores and no decorations anywhere except for a few forlorn wreaths here and there, hung up by the less timid householders.

That was the world on Christmas day—divided into two parts, one trying to be happy with a false gaiety, the other grim and foreboding.

CIVIL DEFENSE

House Votes Plan to Build Shelters

The house voted 247 to 1 a civil-defense plan that would cost an estimated $3,100,000. More than two thirds of the total amount would go for bomb shelters, with the federal government paying half of their cost and local and state governments putting up the rest.

The plan was sent to the senate and quick approval was expected. A somewhat similar program had been approved unanimously by the senate's armed-services committee.

One member of the congressional atomic committee, said it was estimated that first-rate civil defense measures, plus 12 minutes' advance warning of possible attack, might reduce casualties in an atomic attack by as much as 50 per cent. For this reason an adequate defense was imperative.

CHINA:
Refuses to Negotiate

If the world held any hopes that the Chinese would talk peace in Korea, they were killed when China's Foreign Minister Chou En-lai said they would not negotiate with the United Nations Korean-truce team.

Chou then went on to name his price for peace in Korea.

1. Removal of the United States seventh fleet from Formosan waters.

2. Withdrawal of "foreign troops" from Korea.

3. A seat in the United Nations for Communist China.

Thus ended any hopes that the Chinese Communists would dicker with the three-man truce committee set up by the General Assembly to try to bring about a cease-fire in Korea. Peiping did not even bother to transmit a copy of its blast to Lake Success, seemingly content to let its radio demands remain the last word.

The Chinese statement contained the usual propaganda lines.

Meanwhile, a warning to China by Malcolm MacDonald, Britain's commissioner-general for southeast Asia, that they are heading for disaster caused a stir of comment throughout the east.

MacDonald said in part: ". . . . Should the Chinese government stay hostile to the western nations, oppose the Asian powers who strive for eastern and western co-operation, and defy the United Nations, then we could only adapt our attitude accordingly."

Observers were quick to point out that such a statement would not have been made unless previously approved by London. It would seem a blunt warning to Peiping that Britain is getting fed up. For this reason many observers believed it was the first indication of a get-tough policy by the British.

EISENHOWER:
Concerted Effort Needed

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of the Atlantic pact armies, urged Americans to settle down to a concerted effort to meet the emergency confronting this country and stop partisan squabbling over the nation's leadership.

In his first formal press conference as supreme commander, he asked for "no more business as usual, no more profits as usual, no more working hours as usual."

Observers were interested in the general's view on including German troops in the new western European army. He said he wanted his former foes included but emphasized his belief that the Germans should make their military contributions only on a "voluntary basis" to be a really effective combat organization.

"In accepting anything like that," he said, "we must be sure we are getting strength and no weakness."

Of one thing Eisenhower was positive. The nation's strength is so great that its people can do "anything in the world they set out to do."

CASUALTIES:
The Price of War

The horrible price of war was brought home to the American people with the announcement that 11,964 United States troops were listed as dead, wounded and missing from the time the Chinese Communists attacked up to December 12.

With previous defense department figures, total American casualties for the war exceeded 42,000. The report said the Chinese Reds had suffered approximately 120,000 casualties during the same period.

The defense department's last previous total of casualties, whose next of kin had been notified, numbered 36,421. These included 5,518 killed, 25,587 wounded and 5,316 missing. Of the wounded 662 died later.

Heads Agency

Charles E. Wilson, former president of General Electric company, poses for cameramen as he took over his duties as head of the Defense Production Authority which has authority similar to the powers vested in the war production board in World War II.

RUSSIA:
Race of Sea Power

The Soviet Union has entered the race of sea power, Jane's Fighting Ships, the authoritative yearbook on the navies of the world, reported the Russians put into service last June a 35,000 to 37,000 ton battleship with towers for firing guided missiles.

Jane's also reported that 350 to 370 Russian submarines were believed already in service, with 120 more building.

S.F.-L.A. Highway

Director Rules Out Toll Express Way

C. H. Purcell, State Director of Public Works, today informed the state legislature that construction of a toll express-way between San Francisco and Los Angeles on the west side of the San Joaquin Valley "is not feasible."

Purcell's report follows out a legislative order to investigate the possibilities of establishing such a toll road.

According to the director of public works, establishment of such a road would be equivalent to an additional tax on gasoline of from 30 to 50 cents per gallon for those using the road.

The conclusion, Purcell said, covers any of four routes covering a major portion of the distance between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

These routes are:

Carrizo plains, Salinas and Santa Clara valleys and along the east side of San Francisco Bay.

West side of San Joaquin valley to Tracy and Altamont Pass.

West side of San Joaquin valley, through Pacheco Pass.

Hanford to a point ten miles west of Fresno and then to Tracy.

Construction costs, the report said, would vary from $125,015,000 for the west side, to $172,720,000 for the Carrizo plains route.

Clearly, the report says, any route closely approaching a straight line between San Francisco and Los Angeles, is impractical.

HUB OF IMPERIAL VALLEY

Brawley, located in Imperial County, is reported by the National Automobile Club to be the hub of the Imperial Valley and to be the largest shipper in the United States of such products as cantaloupes, watermelons, and lettuce.

Friends Pay Honor To Pansy J. Abbott

Recognition of lengthy and neighborly service while she was superintendent of San Mateo county's elementary schools was accorded Miss Pansy Jewett Abbott with a surprise luncheon at the Villa Chartier in San Mateo on Friday, January 12.

Eighty members of Seventeenth District California Congress of Parents and Teachers heard Mrs. J. J. Garland of Menlo Park, past president of the district and also of the C.C.P.T., express admiration for Miss Abbott's many community contributions, when she said, "We have known a great teacher, courageous administrator, and gallant lady."

From Pescadero on the coastside, Brisbane in the north, and all parts of San Mateo county, representatives of school and PTA groups came to do her honor. In token of their esteem a brass planter had ben selected by Mrs. Henry C. Collins of San Mateo (Eleanor Freeman Collins) who, until her own retirement last fall, served with Miss Abbott as curriculum director.

Mrs. M. G. Strohmeier of San Mateo, counselor-at-large and a district past president, presented the gift after briefly describing Miss Abbott's twenty-five years in office, her special interest in exceptional children, besides her other work with youth and with teachers, not only in San Mateo county, but in California through the State Teachers' association and other organizations. Testifying to Miss Abbott's universal friendliness, Mrs. Stohmeier concluded with the verse, "Best Gift."

LICENSE TAG VISIBILITY

Motor vehicle authorities have paid considerable attention in recent years to the design of license plates from the standpoint of improving their visibility, according to the National Automobile Club. That should be the motorist's cue to follow up their work by seeing that the tags on his vehicle are cleaned periodically. It is a second offense that can be added to the major charge on which a motorist is arrested, police records testify.

SOCIETY

Honors For Jefferson

HIGH SCHOOL SCHOLASTIC RATE HIGH

Jefferson Union High School graduates have earned grades which are definitely above the average for all entering freshmen at the University of California.

A report recently received from the university gives the grade averages for the fall term 1949-50. Jefferson graduates earned a 1.48 point average, compared to 1.40 for large public high schools; 1.37 for small public high schools; and 1.31 for private schools.

None of the local students failed to make a "C" average for the term.

A survey of the past five years shows Jefferson graduates earned an average of 1.64 compared to a 1.42 average for students from all large public high schools.

"These figures are very satisfying," stated Stanford Hannah, district superintendent. "They furnish a god basis for checking up on ou racademic standards. Although the number of students involved is small, their constant performance of high-grade work is meaningful. We are proud of their record."

BAYSHORE VISITACION VALLEY

By Bernice Hendryx JUniper 4-6449

Some busy little bee sat down and wrote a letter to the District Attorney's Office some time ago, and the repurcussions are just now appearing.

At a special meeting of the Water Board last Tuesday night, Jack Lawson resigned as a member of the Diamond Public Utilities, meaning our Water Board. Bert Ford was appointed to the board to take Mr. Lawson's place, and Vincent Morriss replaced Mr. Lawson as acting Chairman.

This letter called to the District Attorney's attention the fact that no member of any board can hold office on that board and also work to maintain lines, or receive pay for any work that must be done by that board.

Jack Lawson has been receiving a salary of $125 a month from the Water Board. For that pay, he reads all the meters in Bayshore, hands out the water bills, answers emergency calls, repairs meters, and in short, is trouble shooter for any and all troubles that might arise in regard to the water. It comes close to being a job of work.

Salary Set

This salary of $125 a month was set some time ago, when prices weren't anything close to what they are now. Being a member of the board, Mr. Lawson also knew that the Water Board didn't have any spare cash laying around, so a raise wasn't mentioned.

All of you that read the papers know that we are faced very shortly with a raise in water rates in Bayshore anyway. San Francisco has raised their rates, and we buy our water in bulk through them, so of course the raise hits us too. Just how much the raise will be on every 100 cubic feet of water is as yet unknown. But here is the question of the week. Do any of you know anyone that would be interested in taking a job full time to climb hills, read meters, collect water bills, repair meters, etc., for 125 a month? You may form a line to the right.

Won't End

Now that this thing is started, it won't end with the water board. We have much the same situation in the Sanitation Dept. This all comes about because we have men in the district that are interested in Bayshore, know its problems, and want to see it flourish.

We aren't a wealthy community in many ways, and these board members are bound by rigid rules that must be observed. They take the small jobs that come out of these boards at wages no outsider would consider. These whispers of graft that go along with the jobs is too ridiculous to be considered. Any member of the community that is interested enough to attend these board meetings has free access to all the information that they would need to prove this to themselves.

The outcome of the whole thing of course, is the fact that someone is feeling very righteous and law abiding for reporting an irregularity, but it is going to cost you and me money, and what purpose it has served baffles me.

Mr. and Mrs. Club

The Mr. and Mrs. Club threw a surprise party for Frank and Marge Finigan, one-time residents of the Project, now residing in Redwood City. The occasion marked their twenty-first wedding anniversary, and the gang turned out to make it memorable.

The Ford family had weekend guests from New Orleans, and grandson Phil Hughes is down with another dose of poison oak. This is the second severe case of itch Phil has had within a short time. Stay out of the bushes Phil. You and poison-oak just don't get along.

The Chairman of the March of Dimes dance that will be given by the Mr. and Mrs. Club is Mrs. Nellie Throne. The shindig is scheduled for January 27, at the Administration Bldg., in the Project. Admission is 25 cents, and raffle tickets will be sold on a ham. All the profits will go to the March of Dimes.

Church News

The Bayshore Baptist Church is almost at the midway mark on their two week program, featuring William Stroh, the singing evangelist. They have a program of three meetings each day except Saturday. These include the Bible study, from 10 to 11 in the morning, the children's hour, from 4 to 5 in the afternoon, and the evening service at 7:30. The children's program, open to the entire community, as are all the programs, has been particularly successful. Last Tuesday's turnout, even with bad weather, rose to the 150 mark, and it is hoped that as the news circulates, the attendance will rise even higher.

Explorer Scouts

Disaster Training Classes Open

Admiral J. MacDonald Smith, USN (ret.), head of the Explorer Scout Emergency Service Training Program, announced three one-evening sessions which are to be conducted during this week for basic orientation of Explorers and their Leaders.

These sessions are open to the public.

Demonstration teams of Explorer Scouts and Leaders have been developing material for the past several weeks. The courses are designed to show each Scout and ctitizen what he needs to know in the event of disaster. This includes the Civil Defense plan of action for any emergency, basic first aid, orientation, personal equipment and communications.

The sessions opened Wednesday evening, January 17, at 7:30 at 1515 South Van Ness Avenue.

The same program will be given the following two evenings at Scout Hall, 24th and Judah Streets, and Grace Cathedral (Old Crypt), California and Taylor Streets.

These sessions will end a training program of fifteen weeks' duration for the Scouts, who will receive arm brassards and Civil Disaster citations from Mayor Robinson at ceremonies in City Hall Friday, February 2.

Assisting Admiral Smith are Donald L. Peters, Mart P. Bushnell, Arthur W. Elston, Carlyle Corson, Lionel Marcus, and C. W. Elberling.

Mayor Green Replies To Criticism Of Present Air Raid Warning System

January 16, 1951

Editor
The Record
Daly City, Calif.

Dear Sir:

Recent articles and editorials in your publication have appeared to be extremely critical of Daly City's Civil Defense program, and, although local officials are appreciative of constructive criticism, nevertheless I believe that The Record's attitude may be at least partially based on mis-advice or misunderstanding.

You must remember that only last week two members of your City Council attended a convention of city officials at the State Capitol to meet with State officials on Civil Defense. We returned with a new ordinance suggested for adoption by all California cities, setting up a standard disaster procedure. That ordinace is now under study for possible revision and will probably be introduced at the next meeting of the Council.

Other Problems

Other problems, such as insignia to be worn by Disaster Corps personnel; standard identification cards and training data; uniforms for auxiliary police, etc.; immediate supply of sufficient copies of the pamphlet "Survival Under Atomic Attack" for distribution to each household, etc., remain unanswered at the State level, and we local officials are going to have to work out some of the answers among ourselves. A representative committee from all of the communities in San Mateo County has been organized for that purpose, in the interest of standard procedure.

Allocation of this year's (1951) Federal appropriation of three bilion dollars for Civil Defense needs has not yet been announced, and this will have a very definite effect on local programs.

Warning Sirens

We have been requested by Federal and State officials not to purchase warning sirens or other equipment pending higher level announcement of standards and specifications. Accordingly, we have instituted test warnings, using present equipment which was set up during World War II. I might point out that Daly City is among the very few cities in the State to have already put test warnings into effect.

I agree that Civil Defense is a serious problem. Our complete local program has been scheduled to become operative in February, and you may rest assured that the schedule will be met. Planning must precede action.

I Believe

I believe that the first obligation of any public official is to provide calm, direct and practical leadership in the face of any crisis. I believe that the same obligation is shared by the free press of America. We Americans have met many crises before—and we will meet this one.

Inflammatory speeches, panicky announcements and fear psychology have no place in our Civil Defense program. Logical thought, hard work and re-blooded Americanism will result in a successful Civil Defense organization. Those who are impatient had best sign up at the blood bank, enroll in a Red Cross first aid class, and be ready to volunteer their services when the completely-planned program is ready for execution.

The potential battle for survival will not be won with press releases nor news clippings. Calm, deliberate planning, sincere interest, and one hundred per cent team work on the part of every citizen are required to accomplish our aims. This must be. Otherwise, Civil Defense may well replace constipation as the great American evil.

Yours very sincerely,
PAUL GREEN,
Mayor.

Letter to the Editor

Reader Calls For Rent Decontrol In Daly City

(Ed. Note: The Record would welcome more letters on the subject of rent controls. Apparent lack of interest on this issue has been the reason your city council has failed to act one way or the other.)

To Whom It May Concern:

I was at a club meeting and it was brought up that we should not have rent control in our town.

They should bring it up to the board members (city council) and decontrol rents.

All down the Peninsula they have been decontrolled. So why doesn't Daly City do the same?

Yours truly,
L. C., Sr.

Woodrow Wilson PTA

Home Reading Films Featured

Members of the Woodrow Wilson PTA held their regular monthly meeting at the school January 16, at 2 p.m. Mrs. Hugh Falconer, president of the James Snell PTA, read the "thought for today."

During the brief business meeting, the following reports were made: A donation of two dollars has been made to the San Mateo blood bank, as a substitute for the usual cookie donation. Mrs. G. Reginelli reported a successful party given the pupils in December. Mrs. Ralph Wakehouse extended thanks to members of the sewing committee for their splendid cooperation in making the December open house and bazaar a memorable event. In the absence of Miss June Gross, Mrs. Lois Adami, president, advised members on the salvage drive which is to take place from January 22 to January 26th. Pupils will be given bags which parents are requested fill with any good outgrown clothing.

Committee Selected

A nominating committee was selected by members present. The following panel was chosen: Mrs. K. Atteberry, Mrs. Ralph Wakeruthers and Mrs. J. Ausano. This concluded the business meeting and February 6th was designated as the next meeting date.

Mrs. Ethel B. Hahn, gave a short talk on "Home Assistance in Primary Reading" and this was followed by a class demonstration by the second grade under the very capable direction of their teacher, Mrs. Virginia Bolstad. Along with individual and class reading of the story selected, large pictures of the characters in the story were held up for the audience to view. These poster-size pictures were painted by the pupils of the class who were later introduced by Mrs. Bolstad.

Crocker PTA

Plans Readied For Super Whist

Everything is ready today for a super whist to be held by the Crocker PTA next Friday, January 26.

The whist will be at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. N. Wegner, 399 Crocker avenue. Money raised from the game is to be used for the benefit of the Crocker PTA Life Membership.

Mrs. William Hobbs is chairman for the affair. She announced today that many lovely prizes will be awarded during the party.

Reservations should be made by calling Mrs. Hobbs at JUniper 7-9792.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Hobbs explained further today what is represented by a Life Membership in the Crocker PTA.

1. An honorary life membership in the California Congress of Parents and Teachers may be purchased for 25 by any person or organization that may wish to honor an individual, either a Parent-Teacher member or someone in a related field who has rendered long or outstanding service to children and youth.

2. An honorary life membership does not carry the right to vote or hold office. Any honorary life member may become an active member by payment of dues in a local unit.

The funds derived from the sale of honorary life memberships are:

1. Placed in a revolving fund to be loaned without interest to qualifying students above high school level who would be unable to continue their education without financial assistance.

2. Allocated by the State Board of Managers, according to the recommendations of a special committee and as funds may be available, to teacher training or other scholarships and fellowships for qualifying students.

Gifts of $25 or more may be made to this fund by any person or group interested in furthering the aims above. A certificate of recognition will be issued to the honor.

CON MEN EMPLOY "VET SWINDLE" HERE

Confidence men, using the disabled veteran's angle, are trying to swindle local merchants and residents, Tom Callan, commander of Old Glory Post No. 2044, VFW, reported today.

Callan said several merchants have been approached by telephone. The con man requests a donation of $10 to $25 for the care of disabled veterans. He asks the money be sent to some address. In no case will he come to collect the money himself, or give his proper telephone number.

Neither the VFW, American Legion, or Disabled Veterans solicit funds in this manner, Callan said.

"Before giving money to any alleged veteran's organization, the donor should contact one of the local veteran groups," Callan warned.

Remember, in any case don't be foolish enough to send money through the mail, following a request by telephone for funds, Callan concluded.

Jeff High PTA

Student Body Looks At Future

A meeting of the Jefferson High School PTA was held at the Little Theatre last Thursday, January 11.

Mrs. M. S. Jenfen, president, opened the meeting, followed by Mrs. Stanford Hannah who led the salute to the flag.

Mrs. Hilda Heagney, president of the Colma Girl Scouts, read the thought for the day.

This was followed by Mrs. Kramer, program chairman, introducing Stanford Hannah, superintendent, who in turn introduced a student panel. The students discussed the "Outlook of the Future."

Generally they agreed the future for them hung in the balance, weighed on one side by national defense and on the other by the present war in Korea. Despite the apparent dark days ahead, they were agreed that the best way to meet the futuer was to take everything in their stride.

Members of the panel included: Pat Austring, Jan Ostren, Patricia Chum Fat, Pat McCool, Milton Tromborg, and Victor Bahor.

Following this serious discussion, Mrs. Juanita Burgess of Brisbane presented a hilarious skit on teachers and teaching, "Backwoods Sketch."

The meeting closed, and refreshments were served.

Bayshore PTA

Musical Program Presented At Meet

The regular meeting of the Bayshore PTA was held Friday, January 12, in the school auditorium.

There was a musical program by the school band, and an accordian trio under the direction of Mrs. Bitters. Both groups played well, and their music was enjoyed by all members and faculty present.

Regular business was then discussed, and committee members reported on the Christmas Party and Open House. Both events were hailed as a great success.

This was followed by the election of the following nomination committee members, Mesdames: G. Van Horn, G. Tomich, M. Calario, W. Stuhl and S. E. Perkowski.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Kleinworth announced that a textile class will be given every Wednesday night from 7 to 9 o'clock at the school auditorium. Those interested in attending are asked to contact Mrs. Kleinworth at JUniper 5-6591.

Several members will attend the district and publicity luncheon to be held today (January 18) at Woodside.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

The Federal wage and hour law requires payment of time and a half for all covered workers employed more than 40 hours in any week.

Local Auxiliary Hosts Officers

400 Guests Pay Honor To State Eagle Officials At Meeting Here Thursday

In their first Bay Area meeting, officers of the state Fraternal Order of Eagles Auxiliary were honored last Thursday by members of the Colma Vista Grande Aerie No. 1848 Auxiliary.

Close to 400 guests gathered at The Club Casino to pay honor to Mrs. Merle Ensminger, state president, and other officers. After the dinner, the guests adjourned to the Blue Room of the Masonic Hall. There, local President Mrs. Lorene Gardner led a demonstration of initiatory work. Seven new members were welcomed to the Auxiliary, with the inside drill team performing to perfection.

Program

After a short recess, an unusual program was presented by Program Chairman Mrs. Arthur Heyden.

Mayor Paul Green, a brother Eagle, greeted the women and requested they soon pay a return visit to Daly City.

The program then followed. First was a colorful Japanese fan dance featuring Kinuko Abe, Chizuko Kiyazak and June Uyeda. They performed the traditional Japanese dances.

Miss Lourdes Suguitan and Bonifacio Bitanga then performed the Philippine dance, "Tinkkling." This required great skill and agility, as it was danced to the rhythmic beat of bamboo poles. Marcelo Divinagracia and Eddi Zambrano were the bamboo beaters, while Miss Lucretia Sugitan accompanied them on the piano.

French Dance

Miss Jean Kelly gave a beautiful Cambodian French Indo China dance. These dances were based on the original Chinese dances taken from the Forbidden City. She was accompanied by Mrs. Houston on the piano.

The audience was then treated to a piano solo by a promising young Daly City lad, Jerome Ennis, who played "Valcik" by Morjens,

The program concluded with the Auxiliary Chaplain's 5-year-old daughter, Penny Almquist, doing a tap dance with a painted doll that was almost the size of Penny.

1950 San Francisco Stamp Sales Up 4%

Postmaster John F. Fixa today announced that the stamp sales of the San Francisco Post Office showed a $969,452.64, or 4.18 per cent increase in 1950 as compared with 1949.

Stamp sales

1950—$24,183,789.18
1949—$23,214,336.54

Up—$969,452.64; a gain of 4.18 per cent.

Fixa added further that 465,108,000 letters were cancelled and 11,285,237 pieces of outgoing parcel post were dispatched in 1950.

Sales Tax

Would Bring County $878,677 Annually

Imposition of a one per cent sales tax to supply cities and counties with additional revenue would yield $878,677 to San Mateo county annually.

The county would receive double that amount if no cities within the county had a sales tax law, as the suggestion is for the county to receive a half of one per cent and the cities having sales taxes the other half.

The proposal, advanced by the County Supervisors Association, would have the effect, capitol observers said today, of encouraging cities to adopt sales tax laws, and unincorporated areas to incorporate and pass half cent sales tax statutes.

The proposal, the association said, would raise a total of $55,966,667 annually on the basis of one half of one per cent, and the same amount for cities and counties which have no cities with a sales tax.

CITY EMPLOYES ASK FOR PAY HIKE

Across Board Cost Of Living Raise Requested

Representatives of some 40 city employes will meet with the Civil Service Board of Review Monday night to request an across the board pay increase for all employes.

There was no indication today what the request would represent, although some believe it will be from $25 to $50 more a month.

There has not been a general increase of wages for all city employes in the past two years. However, less than a year ago some of the workers were given wage hikes.

Mrs. Marion McKaskle, president of the city employes association, said the raise was necessary to meet the ever rising cost of living.

Councilmen contacted seemed in favor of some general across the board raise for the employes. Again, however, no figure was mentioned.

The current average wage scale for city workers is $200 to $400 a month.

The Department said that cattlemen, who have not received notification of renewal fees due, should mail the proper amounts to the cashier, state department of agriculture, office building no. 1, Sacramento.

There are about 24,000 brands used on cattle, sheep and horses in this state and department officials estimate 2,000 new brands will be registered in 1951. New applications are being received at the rate of 200 per month.

San Mateo county also has an estimated 2,500 sheep and 1,650 horses, some marked with brands.

An open verdict, subject to further investigation, was handed down by the coroner's jury on Thursday morning in the death of a Daly City man struck down by a car here December 6.

Dominic Guagliardo, 68, of 15 Shakespeare street was killed as he was crossing Mission street near the Bank of America. The driver of the death car was Aldo Ferraris, 1348 Williams avenue, San Bruno.

Coroner John Crosby said medical reports indicated the victim was intoxicated at time of death.

NEW BILL WOULD PROVIDE FOURTH SUPERIOR COURT

In the Sacramento legislative hopper today is a bill providing for a fourth superior court in San Mateo County, and an increase in the salaries of the judges from $12,000 to $15,000 a year.

Both bills were introduced by Assemblyman Richard J. Dolwig.

An increase in county population was given as the reason for an additional court. The county now has three superior courts, the third having been created last year.

College Boxing

Semi-Annual Finals Slated January 26

The semi-annual San Francisco City College boxing tournament is here again.

A large group of boys are furiously training in order to win the title in their respective weight divisions, ranging from 125 pounds to heavyweights.

Many of the budding pugilists, some of them still green recruits, are willing to bat each others' brains out for the coveted golden glove which is given to the winner in recognition of fistic ability.

The boys are coached by Roy Diederickson, who is well known for his excellent handling of young boxers. His teams have been way up in the standings in the National Junior College Tournament. Last year two of his boys got to the National J. C. Finals.

The all-college tournament is sponsored by the student body in a worthy effort toward promoting good will and fostering athletic development. The finals will be held January 26 in the C.C.S.F. gym. The public is invited.

Athletes Join Armed Services

Block SF Society of City College of San Francisco, comprised of outstanding participants in college athletics, staged a farewell party on Wednesday, Jan. 11, honoring its members who have answered the call to arms. The group met at the home of Al Endres in Oakland.

Among the features was a series of "toasts" proposed to the armed forces and the respective branches which the men chose to join.

The Marine Corps led the field of enlistments with four candidates in Dick Carrillo, Alex Groswird, Terry Sweet, and Bill Zgraggen. The Air Force followed closely with three, including Ralph DeLaTorre, Stan Hahn, and Jim McAuley. Next came the Army with two, Jack Bettencourt and Tony Romero.

The Navy and Coast Guard each tallied one member with Bob Briggers and Dick Saccaini, respectively. Ten of the enlistees were on the 1950 Ram football squad and one was one the college boxing team.

Bill Brandt, who has transferred from OLPH, will receive his award from his friend Richard Gonzales.

The Perpetual Help team won the trophy last year, so the trophy will remain in the office of Sister Superior for another year. The boys are to be congratulated for their fine sportsmanship and fine showing each week on the football field.

Tom Brown Gives Up Tennis To Join Well Known Daly City Legal Firm

A familiar figure on the international tennis courts, Thomas P. Brown Jr., this week joined the law firm of Fahey, Castagnetto & Gallen, 3 Wellington avenue.

Although 27-year-old Brown still has to prove his prowess as a lawyer, there is no question that he has made a permanent niche for himself in the tennis hall of fame.

The tall, black haired Brown first broke into sports headlines back in 1938 when at 16 he participated in national tournaments in the United States. This was the beginning of a career that in 1946, and again in 1950 saw his playing with the famed U. S. Davis Cup Squad in Australia.

Brown Wins

While in 1950 the American squad went down to defeat by 5 to 0, in 1946 Brown was the only member of the team to win a match.

And playing with Kramer in 1946 he won the men's doubles at Wimbledon, England.

While not on the Davis Squad, Brown participated in national tournaments both here and abroad from 1948 to 1946. These matches took him to the tennis courts of England, Europe and South America where he won fame as one of the best players in America.

First Love

While devoting a good many hours to his favorite sport, Brown's first love is law. He graduated with a high class standing from the University of California Law School in 1949. He was admitted to the California Bar in 1950.

And as if tennis and law were not enough, Brown served with the United States army for 31 months during World War II. With the 20th Armored Division he served as a PFC six months in Europe. Presently he holds a reserve commission as second lieutenant with the Judge Advocate Corps . . . this, by the way, makes him one of the few lieutenants in this branch as the table of organization calls for only first lieutenants.

A native of San Francisco, Brown was educated in San Francisco schools. His father is the retired publicity manager for the Western Pacific Railroad. His mother is now an instructor at San Francisco State College.

Tennis fans, preferably those with legal problems, can now find Brown in the offices of Fahey, Castagnetto & Gallen, 3 Wellington avenue.

Children may be employed in agriculture only outside of school hours of the school district where they live while working, says the Federal wage and hour law.

Wholesale and retail prices of food, clothing and other necessities of life are gathered by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics in many cities of the nation.

Science Traps

New Tests Held Game Wardens Catch Violators

Things are getting tougher for violators of California's wildlife conservation laws.

The Division of Fish and Game laboratory has just announced the successful development of tests which positively identify animal matter, including dried meat and blood. No longer need wardens be harried by the suspected violator who claims that the meat in his freezer is veal—not venison.

A precipitin test, long in use, has been modified by Senior Bacteriologist Oscar A. Brunetti. It increases the accuracy so that even dried drops of blood become identifiable by animal families.

Government Help

Similar tests were formerly handled for the Division by the Federal Bureau of Investigation laboratory in Washington, D. C. However, the delay in transit, and lack of readily available scientific witnesses started Parasitologist Merton N. Rosen and his laboratory staff on the search for improved techniues.

By means of a complex rabbit inoculation, serum separation, drying and liution formula, the wildlife law detectives arrived at their new process. As the final test is run, formation of a white ring between the solution of suspected material and the rabbit serum points a positive finger at the fish and game law violator.

Fast Answer

Because this work is done on the University of California campus, fish and game wardens from all parts of the State can send their samples to this central location and obtain a speedy "guilty" or "not guilty" answer. Technicians are available for court testimony on short notice.

The test has proved successful many times, with the most recent positive identification made from scrapings of dried deer blood found in the bottom of a metal wash tub.

Now, within a few days time, wardens are able to tell the judge if the suspected violator possesses illegal elk, deer, antelope, bear, bighorn sheep, squirrel, rabbit, or pheasant—or with apologies—that the suspected meat is lamb, veal, pork, or chicken.

The Secretary of Labor is authorized to sue for back wages due workers covered by the Federal wage and hour law, on the employee's written request and under certain conditions.

Junior Basketball League

Jefferson "A" and "B" Teams Score Win Over Crocker -- Crocker Defeats OLPH

The Jefferson Elementary school basketball teams got off to a flying start in their first games of the current Junior Basketball League.

In a fine exhibition of ball handling and shooting, the "Jeff" As and Bs showed possibilities of being better than average ball clubs. The B's defeated a fine team from Crocker, that just couldn't get started, 21-7.

Lowel Creighton was high man for the winners with eight points.

In the A games that followed, the Jefferson team first defeated the Crocker As 24-13, with Al Figone sinking seven baskets for fourteen points. In their next game OLPH went down 17-9 with Figone again gaining top honors with eight points, Murphy turned in a fine game for his team with six points, but his efforts weren't enough.

Last Friday night the Jefferson Union High School was again the site of a fine basketball game. In the first game the Crocker B's found themselves and ran away from the OLPH boys 21-8. Dickson and Perrin were the high men for the winner with nine and ten points respectively, Gerrans and Bacigalupo each made four points for the losers.

In the A game that followed it looked like OLPH was going to have it's own way for the first half, but just like the Rose Bowl game where Cal played so wonderfully in the first half and then faded in the second, so did OLPH, because Crocker came back in the second half and had everything their own way. The score at the half time was 8-2, but Crocker scored 15 points in the last two quarters to 6 points for the losers and won the game 17-14.

Stiff and Ziegel shared honors for the winners with six points each, while Murphy tanked eight points to win top honors for the game.

This Friday Jefferson A's will play Crocker A's in a preliminary game at the Jefferson High School. This game should be an interesting one to watch; so let's see some of you parents out to see your sons in action.

Gelsi Cavern

Local Nine Floored By Cooper Varni

In one of their worst games of the season, Gelsi's Cavern went down to defeat 5 to 10 at the hands of the Cooper Varni nine last Sunday.

This Sunday, with several new players, Gelsi hopes to run up a beter score. The Sunday game will be at Marchbanks Park at 2 p.m. against the San Francisco Athletic Club.

Night Basketball Opens

FOUR TEAMS ENTER JEFFERSON LEAGUE; GAMES TO BE PLAYED TUESDAY NIGHTS

Night basketball returns to Jefferson High School Tuesday, January 23. However, this year's league is a pocket edition of last year's season.

Uncle Sam and the draft have played havoc with the teams, Coach Glenn South reports. Consequently, the usual number of eight to ten teams has been cut to four.

This year the four teams will be: Sarto A. C., Veteran's Inn, Ralph's Cleaners and the Hoyt Heaters. Three of these teams played in the league last year, and Ralph's is the only new addition.

Strong Teams

From here it appears that the two teams to watch will be the Sarto A. C. and Veteran's Inn. They are both strong, and will be strong contenders for the league lead.

As planned, the four teams will play round robin every Tuesday night for six weeks.

The schedule opens at 7:20 p.m. January 23 when the Sarto A. C. meet Veteran's Inn. At 8:30 p.m. Hoyt Heaters will tangle with Ralph's Cleaners.

Coach South emphasized that if the teams are not ready at the specified times they will automatically forfeit the game.

The public is invited to attend the series.

Following is the complete schedule for the six week league:

Sarto A. C. vs. Veteran's Inn

DONKEY BASKETBALL RETURNS TO JEFF

Donkey basketball will be back at Jefferson Union High School Thursday evening, February 8.

The faculty men have again challenged the Daly City-Colma Lions Club and the Lions are expected to roar back an acceptance.

Two years ago the two teams aided (?) by the donkeys they were riding struggled valiantly with the faculty finally victorious.

The donkeys may or may not move when and how the rider wishes. The players must be on the donkeys when they throw the ball or shoot a basket. A hilarious evening of entertainment is provided and a full house is expected again.

Gil O'Shaughnessy, now president of the local Lions, Arnold Panella, Joe Lewkowitz, Joe Belli, Elio Fontana and Ira Neville are among the former stars of the service club team who will be depended upon again. However, there are many new members in the club and these should strengthen the team.

John Mongan, genial vice-principal, is again expected to star for the high school faculty, if he can get on the donkey. The school brain trust is seeking a solution to this problem. Coaches Glenn South, Joe McGrath, Mike Orlich and John Matthews promise to condition their fellow players who will include such stellar athletes as "Joe" Vollbrecht, "Spire" Reese, "Pee Wee" Miguel, "Slim" Slinger and others.

The donkey game may be proceeded by a preliminary between two good teams, playing orthodox ball.

Fun and sports lovers should check off the evening of February 8 for this entertaining event.

Sarto's Captures League

Four Runs In Tenth Inning Halts Foster's Lunch Bid For Gate Pennant

It took 10 innings, but Sunday the Sarto A. C. ran up a score of 4-0 to cop the first half of the Golden Gate Park Baseball League race.

Sarto's was held down to a hitless game until the eighth, and it was in the tenth when the lads broke loose for five hits and four runs.

The whole game was a pitching duel between Don Mossi of Sarto's and "Lefty" Collins for Fosters. Mossi allowed only two singles, and pitched eight men out of the box. Collins had a non-hitter until John Olcese singled with one out in eighth. Collins also fanned 12 men.

With one away in the tenth Olcese reached first on Collins' high throw of his bunt. Second Baseman Mickey McMahon then kicked Dino Bennetti's "double play" ball.

Olcese scored when Ben Parodi doubled to right center. And a long outfield fly by Fred Sims brought in Bennetti.

Herman Sick's infield single scored Parodi, and Herman scored on Gene Klinger's single to center.

This Sunday at Marchbanks Park at noon, Sarto's meets Gordon Realty for the second half of the league finals.

INDIANS GO ON WARPATH AGAINST PALO ALTO SQUAD THIS FRIDAY

Local Brave Men Lose Scalps In Opener But Regain Hair Lock In Tuesday Game

In their first home game of the season, with one win and one loss already on the record, the Jefferson basketball squad meets Palo Alto this Friday afternoon.

The team from down south has scored two wins, on the varsity side, but lost as many games in the lightweight category. Consequently, the Indians are going to have a tough time Friday.

Sequoia's Cherokees tied the first two scalps of the season to their basketball record last Friday. The victims were the Jefferson High School varsity and 30's basketball squads.

Taking the lead for his tribe, Forward Harold Hjelm connected for 20 points in the unlimited game. At half time Sequoia was ahead by 35 to 19. Come the end of the slaughter, they had compiled 58 points to Jefferson's32.

It was about the same thing in the lightweight class, with the junior tribesmen going on to win 41 to 30. Angelo Calaioro for Jeff, took high honors with 12 points

Bouncing back Tuesday, Coach Mike Orlich's varsity squad made hash out of Half Moon Bay by 55 to 35. There was little left of the Cougars after the game but their name.

It was the same thing in the 30's game, with the local boys coming through for a 28 to 16 win.

Hunting And Fishing

1951 Angling And Hunting Regulations To Contain Handful Of Major Changes

California's 1951 angling and hunting regulations will contain only a handful of major changes if the Fish and Game Commission takes the advice of more than 300 individuals and sportsmen's organizations and employees of the Division of Fish and Game.

In the first of two regulatory powers meetings to be held this month, commissioners heard recommendations for 1951 hunting and angling seasons and bag limits. Final action will be taken at a meeting to be held January 26 at the State Building, San Francisco.

Angling Laws

Sportsmen and the Division's Bureau of Fish Conservation were in general agreement on future angling regulations. The removal of Bucks Lake, Plumas County from the early trout angling season was the only major change in trout regulations proposed by the Bureau.

The Organized Sportsmen of California asked that a portion of the north fork of the Feather River be included in the early season; that night angling be permitted in Bucks Lake; and that the Navarro River be opened to steelhead fishing up to Indian Creek.

Commissioners were requested to open California's 1951 trout angling seasons on the Saturdays nearest May 1 and May 30, as in previous years.

Other Changes

Other important changes suggested by the Bureau of Fish Conservation:

Add San Benito, Monterey, Santa Cruz, and Santa Clara counties to the southern half of the State now open to year-round fishing for warmwater fish species; equalize fresh water and ocean bag limits by changing regulations to permit a bag of only two trout or salmon or combination in the Pacific Ocean south of the Monterey-San Luis Obispo county line; boost the bag limit on Washington and big neck clams in the Humboldt Bay area from 20 to 25 in the aggregate.

Bow and Arrow

The Associated sportsmen of California and Central California Council asked that carp fishing with bow and arrow be permitted in specified waters. Night angling for catfish in the Sacramento River was also suggested. Organized Sportsmen sought a liberalized bag limit on certain ocean fish species from 10 to 15, and a State-wide frog hunting season from June 1 to February 1.

A six-week early deer hunting season beginning on the second Saturday in August was proposed by the Bureau of Game Conservation. A late season starting September 22 was recommended for the Sierra area to help eliminate closures because of fire hazards.

The Bureau and Organized Sportsmen asked abolition of the present restriction on the taking of forked-horn deer in northeastern district 1 and ¾.

Pheasant Season

The Sacramento-Sierra Sportsmen's Council recommended a 20-day pheasant hunting season. Organized Sportsmen proposed the taking of one hen and one male pheasant per day in 15 central and southern California counties.

Commissioners heard a request from the California Wool Growers' Association for a year-round bear hunting season. The Bureau of Game Conservation recommended a one-month bear trapping season during December and a firearm season opening November 1 in northeastern California counties and September 22 elsewhere.

A two-day sage hen hunting season for Modoc, Lassen, and Mono counties, and a special permit hunt for antelope in Modoc and Lassen counties was proposed by the Bureau.

TUNING IS THE ANSWER

A change in gasoline may be dictated when mileage begins to fall off to a marked degree, but it is more likely that the engine needs a thorough tuning up as to carburetor setting, ignition timing, valve adjustment, and several other items that relate directly to the consumption of fuel. These things done, points out the National Automobile Club, the old gasoline is likely to do its work in the same old efficient way.

AIR RAID WARNING SYSTEM DELAYED

Daly City-State Wait For Word From Federal Government On Signals

(Ed Note: During the past weeks this paper has called for a beter air raid warning system in Daly City. Following is a story from Sacramento explaining the present failure to install proper warnings here.)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 18. (CNS) Specific recommendations on the type of air raid warning signal to be used in the event of air attack on this country are not yet available to California communities, according to Major-General William Robertson, State Director of Civilian Defense.

Also, the office has no funds at the present time to assist communities in the installation of warning signals.

Consequently, the Office of Civilian Defense recommends that communities use what facilities they have until the federal government completes work on an electronic device which it hopes to make uniform throughout the country.

Not Perfected

The electronic device is not perfected as yet, according to the Office of Civilian Defense here.

In the installation of warning bear in mind the fact that such equipment will be obsolete when the new device is ready for distribution. The office could not say when that would be.

Maj-Gen. Robertson has advised some communities to go ahead with installations of old equipment to have some warning signals available as soon as possible, and not wait for the new federal device, his office said.

The state will not make funds available to communities for installations until final word is received from Washington on the devices to be used and the plan for financing them, the office stated.

Uniform System

A uniform system of alerts has been sent out by the OCD here. The "yelow" alert is a signal to Civilian Defense headquarters, and is not transmitted to the public. It means aircraft may be as far away as Alaska.

The red alert is transmitted to the public through a series of waving sound signals. This means attack is imminent.

The white signal, a steady blast, is the all clear signal, the office said.

Local Communities will be advised as soon as the device being perfected by Washington is ready, but meanwhile, Robertson said they will have to do the best they can in determinin gthe methods of warning the populace in the event of attack.

Baby Shower

Mrs. Lumley Guest Of Honor Friday

Honored guest at a baby shower given in Daly City last Friday was Mrs. Robert Lumley, 306 Arroyo Drive, South San Francisco.

The shower was given by Mrs. Louis Williams in her home at 427 Niantic.

Mrs. Wililams decorated the living room and dining room in the traditional colors of the baby domain . . . pink and blue.

The many guests present included Mesdames: Everett Rogers, Jim Ray, Mike Rodriguez, Paul Donoly, Kenny Chase, Robert Durant, Lucy Armstrong, Dave Newman, J. C. Dick, John Mitchell and Lucy Myslewski.

Needless to say, all the guests brought gifts that will be a great benefit to the future addition to the Lumley family.

NEW OPERA DEDICATED TO KOREA WAR HERO

Robert Morton, Opera Workshop instructor at City College of San Francisco has announced he will dedicate the premiere performance of his opera, "Christopher Smith," to Conrad E. Dorn, former music student of the college who was killed in action in Korea. He studied music composition under Morton.

A one-act tragedy, the opera will be presented by the college music department in conjunction with Menotti's "Amelia Goes to the Ball" during the spring semester.

Red Cross

$135,000 Quota Set For County

Striving for a minimum of $135,000, the San Mateo County Red Cross will open its annual funds drive February 20, Mrs. Harry Durand, county chairman, said today.

No figures are yet available as to what the quota for Daly City and Colma will be this year.

Since the outbreak of the war in Korea and declaration of a national emergency, activities and responsibilities of the Red Cros have been stepped up tremendously. The case load carried by Home Service has almost doubled. As for the future, no one can forsee whether the Armed Forces will increase in size to a figure comparable to that in World War II.

Disaster Relief has had to increase its scope of operation to cooperate with the Civil Defense program. Should there be a bombing of the Bay Area, its responsibilities would be overwhelming. Home Service and Disaster Relief are both Government Charter obligations of Red Cross and must be carried on.

Other departments which are directly affected by the present emergency are Safety Services, which must plan to train one member in every family in First Aid, and Home Nursing, which has also been requested to train a member of each household in that skill.

Volunteer Services has been swamped with requests to provide volunteers to staff all departments of the chapter, for this increased activity affects every branch.

The reactivated Blood Service Program which, with Sequoia Chapter, has been charged with procuring 600 pints of blood per month through the San Mateo County Blood Bank, is a service for which the chapter had no budget. This must be provided for in the future. It will be a continuing thing, for, even if no more blood were needed for the wounded, plasmas will have to be stockpiled for use in a possible emergency here at home.

Mrs. Durand said today, "I am sure everyone is aware of the extra load which has been placed on our Red Cross by existing conditions. I urge each one of you to open his heart and his purse to meet the needs of humanity, served by the Red Cross."

YOUR DALY CITY GARDEN CLUB NEWS

By ELSIE M. GARRISON

Members of the Daly City Garden Club, have at last identified "the thing."

At the Tuesday meeting of this aggregation, held at the newly decorated recreational room of the Kramers on Acton street, members were afforded the opportunity of learning first hand, "how to grow Begonias from seed"—with of course, the help of "the thing."

"The thing," which turned out to be a wooden box, twice the size of the type apples come in, fitted with three 75-watt bulbs, an ingeniously installed fish thermometer, converted into a thermostat, a glass-covered lid, completed the incubator, in which the magic germination of the begonia seed is brought about.

Demonstration

Mr. Kramer, who is well known for his beautiful Begonia garden, conducted a very interesting demonstration, which was at once highly informative, yet simplified by his methodical method of presentation. His undeniable talent for extemporaneous speaking kept his audience interested and amused during the entirety of the talk.

According to Mr. Kramer, the Begonia does best in soil which is one part loam, one part leaf mould, and one-half part cow manure. To properly plant seed, a shallow tray should be filled two inches deep of the soil formula, and an additional (one-fourth inch screened) layer of leaf mould sifted on the top. The seed itself, microscopic almost, in size, is placed in an envelope and shaken up thoroughly with two tablespoons of very dry sand. (This is important because the sand, adhering to the sticky seed, separates each grain and makes for maximum growth.)

Then very carefully the stream of sand and seed should be directed in a planting pattern in tray. Back and forth and across. After setting in water, and removing gently, so as to only moisten the bottom soil, through drainage opening, and being careful not to allow suction of a force that will draw the seed too far down in the tray, the top should be treated to a very fine spray, and allowed to drain. After this the tray is covered with a piece of glass, then with newspaper, to shut out the light, and placed in the incubator, which remains at 60 or 65 degrees. Another pan of water is put in separately to ensure humidity. This entire procedure should be done in January.

Completed

Eight to ten days usually completes germination, at which time the newspaper is discarded, and left to grow for about two months. In March, the first transplant to a flat should be undertaken, and heat control used only at night. Then, upon reaching a healthy size, they can be transplanted anytime in June or July outdoors in shady corners with mass planting recommended for best effects, and organic matter best conditioner for preparing the soil.

As early as October and through November, you will have your reward in the gorgeous blooms, that in sheer delicacy and color have put the Begonia in a class by itself.

Hobby

The therepeutic advantage of growing Begonias as a hobby, was touched on by Mr. Kramer, whose interest in home and family is only the greater, since all members of his family spend time together in this pursuit. A happier, or closer knit family would be very hard to find.

Members were indeed sorry to hear of the indisposition of Mrs. Kramer, who is under doctors orders, and hope she is well on the way to recovery. Mrs. Howard Miguel, Club Librarian, was also on the sick list, and we will be glad to see her back.

SAN FRANCISCANS GET A-BOMB BOOKLETS

San Franciscans this week were studying the 240,000 copies of the U. S. government booklet, "Survival Under Atomic Attack," mailed them by the City.

The booklets, which tell how to prepare for and live through an atomic attack, are accompanied by a message from Mayor Elmer E. Robinson. The Mayor's message calls for civilian defense volunteers, contains instructions about where San Franciscans may apply for volunteer work, and an application form. Residents were urged by the Mayor to give close study to the booklet, especially to memorize the six-point "survival section."

Meanwhile, the Air Force, Navy and Civil Aeronautics Administration announced a 24-hour-a-day radar guard had been instituted and the Western Sea Frontier has ordered intensified anti-submarine patrols to guard the Bay Area from sneak attack. Military spokesmen declared that "information about these measures should reassure rather than frighten the public."

A survery of city basements to determine which could be used as air raid shelters has been undertaken by the Board of Supervisors.

County Chamber Of Commerce Viewed

A proposal that San Mateo County set up a type of county-wide chamber of commerce with a paid director is soon to be heard by the county board of supervisors.

The proposal has been made by the San Mateo County Industrial Development Association.

Object of the chamber would be to coordinate the work of the municipalities and of chambers of commerce in encouraging new industries to locate on the Peninsula.

A further discussion of the chamber will be heard when the Industry Association meets March 13.

Keep A Letter

G.I.'s Letters May Help Later

Residents of San Mateo County who receive letters from servicemen now on active duty are urged by Floyd D. Granger, Veterans Service Officer, to think twice, and carefully, before they destroy such letters.

Often, he pointed out, the information contained in "G.I." letters is the all-important clue to evidence that may be required later in establishing the serviceman's right to medical treatment or compensation for ailments or injuries.

This is particularly true in the case of combat conditions such as have marked the Korean campaign, where medical records are difficult to maintain in the field.

"A disability which had its origin in service may be casually mentioned by your GI son, or husband, or friend in a letter, and may never appear in military records," Granger explained. "Years later, it may reappear and cause him suffering and loss of income. That letter, particularly if it mentions some of his buddies who would have knowledge of the case, may be the sole means of this serviceman's establishing a valid claim for service-connected disability compensation and treatment.

Such letters have proved of vital importance in helping many World War II veterans establish their entitlement to disability benefits, Granger observed.

County Employm't. Shows Increase

The nation's preparation for war has reversed the trend of employment in San Mateo County, it was learned today.

Officials report that the usual midwinter slump has been counteracted by a rise in employment throughout the county.

Increasing defense production, steady work in the construction field and a seasonal rise in retail employment through December contributed to a 50 per cent increase in employment.

There are some unfilled jobs for skilled workers, but the shortage has not adversely affected expanding defense plants, particularly in electronics. There are still many unskilled workers looking for jobs, the report said.

The restrictions on child labor in industry were increased by the amendments to the Federal wage and hour law.

Year's First

Burglary Reported In Broadmoor

The Edmund Dafts, 8 Sullivan avenue, Broadmoor, have the dubious distinction today of being victims of the first burglary of the year in Broadmoor.

Police Chief Paul Schmidt reported that last Wednesday evening a burglar broke down a French door in the Deft home. The thief used a heavy chair to smash open the door.

Inside the home, the burglar was able to find only one item of value . . . a piggy bank. Using his same harsh methods, the thief smashed the banks against a piece of furniture, and emptied it of $15.

4. Where are the Bahrian Islands?
5. What state is sometimes known as the "Blue Hen State"?

Funds Requested For Pillar Point

The San Mateo Board of Supervisors will be asked soon to make a direct appeal to Washington, D.C., for funds for the long delayed Pillar Point Breakwater near Half Moon Bay.

Admiral S. B. Johnson, committee chairman for the Breakwater group, is preparing a letter, requesting such aid, to the supervisors.

Meanwhile, the committee said, the state chamber of commerce is preparing a resolution asking the state legislature to urge the federal government to act quickly on fund appropriations.

Answers to TEST YOUR I. Q.

1. It is a large North American deer, sometimes erroneously called an elk.
2. Formosa.
3. On Aug. 20, 1917, two Army officers talked to each other by radio from different planes for the first time.
4. In the Persian Gulf, off the Arabian Coast. American companies have extensive oil interests there.
5. Delaware.

TIRE TIP

When checking air pressure in tires hot from road friction, use the spare tire pressure as a guide, advises the California State Automobile Association. If the unheated spare checks underinflated, this indicates that air should also be added to the other tires, even though they check overinflated due to air expansion.

HOW DOES YOUR GARDEN GROW?

By DANNY GREENTHUMB

Wet Weather Hints

California's rainy season assists the gardener in increasing the fertility aspects of his soil. With a little vigilance on the part of the gardener the full advantage of a rainy season may be utilized to furnish a rich textured soil for the sunmer beds.

During the winter the garden should by no means go untended. Because of the increased moisture in the ground "wet weather" diseases for plants and shrubs become abundant. By keeping in mind a few simple preventive measures the average person can combat these garden diseases and at the same time your plants will profit from Mother Nature's showers.

After every heavy rain make it a point to take a tour of your garden. Examine your perennials first. Standing puddles of water can easily kill many of these plants. If water falls to drain off from delphiniums, foxgloves, chrysanthemums and like flowers, make a shallow furrow with the point of a stick so the excess water will be carried away.

Be sure to carry on a program of soil cultivation after rains. Such cultivation produces a dust mulch which prevents caking and at the same time improves the aeration.

If a hardpan soil structure exists it is a god idea to periodically break up the hardpan. This insures a rain water penetration.

For those who grow winter vegetables on raised beds during the wet months there is one cardinal rule to remember. Irrigation furrows for these vegetables should be dep to produce suculent tender table fare.

Shrubbery and small trees come in for a share of attention during the rainy season too. Catch basis around tree trunks should be kept clear of any foreign growth. Humus added to the basins will greatly increase moisture retaining qualities. It might be a good idea to storm-proof you new trees if they are subject to strong winds. This may be accomplished by pruning.

Cut away any dead or diseased branches with a saw. These cuts should be sterilized and the surfaces covered with plain shellac. Poorly formed and top-heavy branches may be thinned out, this reduces the wind resistance. If your newly-planted trees are still being buffeted the construction of economical windbreaks may be necesary. This also applies to shrubs.

Republicans

GOP To Hold Important Meeting In S.F. January 27

Republican plans "to finish the job in 1952" will be made at an important state-wide conference in San Francisco on Jan. 27 and 28, it was announced today by the Republican State Central Committee headquarters in Los Angeles.

Chairman T. H. DeLap, Richmond, said more than 400 members and associate members of the G.O.P. state committee are expected to attend the sessions which will feature a speech by Gov. Earl Warren.

First Meet

DeLap said, "This will be the first meeting of the state committee since the spectacular Republican successes last November. We Republicans are united as never before in our desire to finish the job in 1952. California Republicans are literally champing at the bit in their desire to continue political activities and improve the G.O.P. organizational structure during this off-election year.

"One of the important problems to be considered at the San Francisco meeting will be finances," the Republican chairman declared. "The extent of official Republican Party activity in California this year in building for 1952 will be determined by the amount of money that is available. For the most part, the Republican voters of California have failed to realize the need to back their political convictions with dollars. Our opposition has sources of revenue which are not open to us, and the Republican State Central Committee is financed by voluntary contributions.

Money Needs

"Methods of stressing the need for everyone who wants a Republican victory in 1952 to send money now will be discussed by several groups at the meeting."

Now, don't do anything that isn't absolutely necessary.

S.F. City College Puts Emphasis On Semi-Professional Work

Out at San Francisco's City College where every other male student is gainfully employed while obtaining an education, a new program extending the hours in which instruction will be given to include both day and night courses, in order to release young people for work suitable to the opportunities, according to an announcement made yesterday by President Louis G. Conlan.

Arranging educational offerings to fit community demand is no new experience to the college authorities. The institution set its courses during the last war to fit the needs of San Francisco citizenry and will do so again in the present emergency.

Atomic Warfare

In keeping with this objective a course in atomic warfare and radiology will be offered during the Spring term, which begins on February 5, to be taught by Michael Lo Presti, coordinator of the Fire College on West Campus. In a companion field, the college has joined in the community campaign to recruit and train 200 nurses in coperation with all San Francisco hospitals. These classes are part of a regular program of training for student nurses which has been conducted by the college biology department under the direction of Dr. Kenneth L. Hobbs.

The Hotel and Restaurant Department at the College always has a waiting list of students applying for admission. This course is under the direct sponsorship of the hotel operators of Northern California. Every graduate is gainfully employed and the training given affords eventual entry in managerial and executive positions in the industry.

Another Field

In another field, that of Paint Technology, a curriculum has been prepared by the educational committee of Golden Gate and Oakland Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Associations, leading organization in the paint industry and facilities set up at the college and a paint technology major written into the curriculum to train students for employment in this field.

Commercial art students at the college are trained in typography, letterpress, and lithography in order that they may recognize quickly the media which may be most gainfully employed in the execution of their designs. Several art students have left the commercial art major to localize their studies on one phase of the graphic arts leading directly to employment in the printing and publishing industry.

Finger Prints

A finger print expert, Bert Bridges, who has gained wide recognition through many books telling of his practical experiences in the field of criminology recently joined the law enforcement division faculty at City College. In line with the policy of the administration to have such courses taught by experts the department is headed by Frederick Fitzgerald, a police ofifcer, who formerly taught at the Police Academy and is now on leave to City College.

While 49 per cent of the students at the College are enrolled in university courses which lead to admission to senior colleges, like University of California or Stanford, in the upper division, the switch in majors at City College in recent years has been to semi-professional courses which are given to those students who desire two years of training to acquire specific skills leading to employment in semi-professional fields.

Recently John J. Brady, dean of semi-professional courses at the college, reported that majors enrolled in this field had increased, percentage-wise from 4 per cent in 1935 to 51 per cent in 1950.

This is in line with the emphasis placed on semi-professional courses by Dr. Herbert C. Clish, superintendent, since he came to San Francisco five years ago.

It is a violation of the Federal wage or hour law to discharge or discriminate against an employee who has filed a complaint or a suit for back wages under the Act.

OUT OF GODFREY'S TEABAG

This is the time of year the politicians elected in November take office—and the unsuccessful candidates are still out looking for jobs. One of these losers I know is the guy who pointed with pride to a 15 per cent increase in the population in the last decade. Boy, what some guys won't take credit for!

Speaking of politicians, I remember one political rally I was at. A man got up and said to the politician: "What about those powerful interests that control you?" The candidate said: "You keep my wife out of this!"

I was once a cab driver in Chicago, you know. I wonder if cabbies today do the same things I used to do. When a young couple got into the car I'd put my hat over the rear-view mirror.

Boy, that was some storm we just had. It's kinda quiet in my backyard in Virginia now that it's all over. No wonder—all my chickens blew into Pennsylvania.

Everything's all frozen over on my pond and all the pretty girls are skating on it. I used to be an ice skater back on the Hackensack River. Could make a figure eight, too. Did it the hard way of course—two fours!

Asked To Report Violators To Jury

Daly City residents as well as all citizens of San Mateo County were called on today to help keep the grand jury informed on law violations and situations that need investigating.

Thomas B. Foster, spokesman for the jury, asked for the information. He said the jury would keep confidential names of the informants.

He noted that investigations probably will not start until after the next meeting of the jury, January 22.

"We want to give the newly elected sheriff time to get set and see what he can do," Foster said.

Meanwhile, Foster said he would propose to the jury for discussion the formation of a civil defense committee which could look into the progress of civil defense plans in the county.

HARD STARTING

Difficulty in starting the engine may be due to a weak battery, faulty spark plugs, burned distributor points, defective condensor or dirt in the carburetor, according to the California State Automobile Association.

State Pays You For Hospital Time

When a Daly City resident finds himself confined in a hospital and asks the inevitable question, "How long will I be here doctor?" the answer might well be something like this:

"Relax, old boy, and don't you worry about that. But just to give you something to think about while you are here, the State Disability Insurance Office says that the average hospital confinement during 1950 was eight days."

If the patient had never heard of State disability insurance, it is possible that he would reach for the telephone and call the district office at 149 New Montgomery Street. He would learn that Californians have been eligible to claim disability insurance benefits since December, 1946, and additional hospital benefits at the rate of $8 for each day of confinement since January, 1950.

Should the patient be interested in statistics, he would be told that an average of $54 in hospital benefits alone was paid to each claimant during 1950. He would also discover that the 9,211 claimants together spent nearly 62,770 days in hospital beds, for which they received a total of $502,156 in hospital benefits.

If all this served only to sharpen the patient's curiosity, he would be informed that combined hospital and basic disability insurance benefits for the same period amount to $4,099,081.

Most important, the patient would learn that he himself could become a future statistic by filing a disability insurance claim, and that claim forms are available at all hospitals.

Registration Cards Now On The Way

Motor Vehicle Director A. H. Henderson today urged motorists who have not received their 1951 potential registration cards to be patient.

"We expect to have the last of these two-part forms in the mail by mid-January," Henderson said, "and because of their convenience it will pay motorists to wait for them instead of renewing on the 1950 white registration card."

The forms now being prepared involve new vehicles purchased during 1950 or those on which there was a late change of ownership or address prior to December 15, 1950. Transactions submitted at any office of the department subsequent to December 15 will not result in a potential registration card being issued.

Henderson said that in the latter case it would be necessary for renewal application to be made on a 1950 white registration card.

The closing date for payment of 1951 fees without penalty is midnight February 5. Mailed applications must be postmarked prior to that deadline to avoid penalty. Over-the-counter applications must be submitted before the close of business February 5.

Henderson said that renewal applications made on 1950 white registration cards would involve some delay in mailing the new certificate. Immediate possession of the 1951 white registration card is afforded, however, through use of the potential registration form. There is not other document to be mailed later.

Persons who receive potential registration cards for vehicles they no longer own should destroy them, the motor vehicle official said.

The Office of the Solicitor is the legal representative for all bureaus and divisions of the U. S. Department of Labor.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY

By SCOTT FRAZER

It has been noted that reports of new developments in industry and medicine have created demands for such products long before they are ready for marketing.

Many instances have ben reported where people who are suffering from ailments that still baffle medical science, read press reports of new wonder drugs and then start hounding their physicians for treatment with those drugs.

Any person suffering such afflictions deserves the quickest cure, but they shall have to bear in mind that everything must first be developed in the laboratory and tested exhaustively before being released to the general public. As it happens, the press carries the notice of the development in the laboratory and limited experimental treatment. A notice of this type has value although the product or drug is not ready for general release.

Here are the noteworthy developments in science and industry this week . . .

CARBON MONOXIDE — The deadly, ever present, carbon monoxide may be taken from the list of killers in home and industry.

Eugene J. Houdry, a petroleum scientist, has invented an exhaust which will take the poison out of exhaust gases. Attached to the exhaust of an automobile engine, this exhaust turns the deadly carbon monoxide into harmless carbon dioxide. This new exhaust will find many uses in homes and light and heavy industry. New York City had 17 deaths last year from carbon monoxide poisoning due to faulty gas refrigerators. The suicides and accidentaly deaths from carbon monoxide in garages are numerous; this invention will cut down these and will also help people that use gasoline powered equipment in homes, garages and plants where gasoline equipment has to be operated indoors.

CREDIT CURBS — Californians who suffered in the recent state floods will find relief from credit restrictions imposed as a result of the Keorean War.

All persons who seek to finance the repair or replacement of real or personal property damaged in the floods will be exempt from Regulations W and X.

SUGAR — The Department of Agriculture reports that the world sugar supply is likely to be 10 per cent larger next year. However, the hoarding of sugar at the beginning of the Korean War makes estimates for price and demand difficult.

TV EYE GLASSES — Bausch & Lomb Optical Company has developed a new lense for glasses that reduce glare, make pictures sharper and minimize eye strain and fatigue for TV viewers.

At the present time, the company reports that hundreds of the glasses are being tested by television owners and that they will be in production for distribution nationally in 1951.

AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION — A French mechanic has patented a pneumatic transmission system for automobiles. The inventor, M. W. Kraimps, has worked on his system for twenty-four years, the result, he claims, is a simple and cheap system.

The principle of this invention is that the engine pumps air into a gear box and inflates rubber hubs. Increased pressure touches different gears and propels the car faster as the pressure from the engine is increased.

ADVERTISING — The newest objection to Coca-Cola advertising in Europe is a threatened strike by the famed gondoliers of Venice, Italy. The Coca-Cola people tried to buy advertising space on the gondolas plying the famed canals. The gondoliers refused; Coca-Cola then brought a gondola from another city with the advertising painted on it.

In order to have the offending gondola removed, the gondoliers have threatened to strike and leave the Coke gondola in sole possession of the city's canals.

SLOW REACTIONS

Partaking of heavy foods makes driver reactions slow and sets the stage for accidents. The California State Automobile Association urges you to avoid overindulgence, for safety's sake.

LIFE-SIZE SIGNS

Those traffic warning signs you see on city streets and rural highways are "Signs of Life." The California State Automobile Association urges you to heed their messages.

Newsboys delivering papers directly to subscribers are not subject to the child labor, minimum wage or overtime pay provisions of the Federal wage and hour law.

Seal Sale Extended

DON'T FORGET TO PAY FOR TB SEALS

Volunteer workers throughout San Mateo County are busy today in the final phase of the special drive to put "San Mateo County across" in the 1950 Tuberculosis Christmas seal sale.

Goal of the workers in an intensive telephone and mail "follow-up" campaign is to reach all of the persons, families and businesses that have overlooked, neglected or failed to pay for the Christmas seals mailed last November.

Last Chance

Chairman Bradford M. Melvin, commanding the final drive to gain the 1950 quota of seal sales, said today that there is hope among the volunteers that the unique, "last chance" effort will prevent a failure of the Tuberculosis Christmas seal sale in San Mateo County for the first time in county history.

Experience of the past three years, he said, shows that the tempo of modern living has increased to a pace where some persons tend to become forgetful of public obligations in the support of a public service, but that they cheerfully respond when reminded of the need.

Sole Source

In this connection Mr. Melvin pointed out that the seal sale is the sole source of support for San Mateo County's nationally famous free chest x-ray program and for all the other case-finding and case-aid activities of the County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

"We are still in hope that new residents of the county, who failed to respond to the seal sale which is for their own ultimate benefit, will answer our final call and reminder that there is vital work to be done and it must be paid for by the generosity of the county's citizens," Melvin declared.

LARGE PROPELLERS

In Great Britain, ships' propellers up to 3¼ tons in weight are now being made regularly of a 5 per cent nickel-aluminum bronze, which is stronger and gives better service than the manganese-bronze previously used.
